

Mandatory sentences for double offenders urged by Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, hoping to put muscle behind the slogan that "crime does not pay," suggests that prison sentences be made mandatory for twice-convicted perpetrators of violent crimes.

Ford, attending a 150th anniversary dinner Friday night at Yale Law School where he earned a degree in 1941, signaled key elements in an anti-crime program he will submit to Congress in about six weeks.

He said he would ask Congress to make sentences mandatory for those who commit violent crimes more than once.

He said this legislation, which would only affect crimes covered by federal law, could serve as a model for the adoption of similar provisions by the states.

Three members of the Yale Law School faculty in the audience at New Haven, Conn., said after the President's speech that they opposed mandatory sentences.

Ford referred indirectly to "the national disgrace of law-breaking in high places" — an apparent reference to Watergate and other scandals. But he emphasized the problem of violent crime, which he said has denied the nation the "domestic tranquility" promised in the Constitution.

"Most serious offenders are repeaters," Ford said. "We owe it to their victims, past, present, and future, to get them off the streets. This is just everyday common sense."

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said in advance of Ford's quick round-trip to Connecticut that the President would, in broad outline, go into his special message to Congress on crime.

Ford said, "I am urging that virtually all of those convicted of a violent crime should be sent to prison. And this should be done especially if a gun was involved or there was other substantial danger or injury to a person or persons. There certainly should be imprisonment if the convicted person has a prior record of convictions."

Yale law professors Charles Black and Clyde Summers and Dean Abraham Goldstein all said after Ford's speech that they opposed mandatory sentences.

Black said, "I'm not sure that all violent crime is worse than some nonviolent crime."

U.S. Solicitor General Robert H. Bork confined his reaction to the speech to saying that he felt there was "something in the idea" of mandatory sentences. He said it was unclear whether Ford meant a fixed number of years in prison or simply a mandatory prison sentence.

Ford spoke before completion of a Justice Department study of potential remedies for mounting crime rates, but presidential aides insisted the points outlined by their boss had been discussed in advance with Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi.

Justice Department spokesman Robert Havel said the department provided no material or proposals for the speech.

One Ford assistant said the President amended his prepared text after receiving a call from Levi while flying to New Haven aboard his Air Force jet.

In its original version, the altered sentence read that it was essential "that all, practically all, of those actually convicted be sent to prison."

As amended, it specified jail terms for those "convicted of predatory crimes."

Hijack attempt fails

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "He said he had big troubles, lots of problems, his own problems," said one passenger of the man who hijacked a United Airlines 727 jet over Baltimore, Md.

The man, who declared he "wanted to see Castro," was arrested during a refueling stop here when his last three hostages sneaked off the plane.

He was identified as Frank Page Covey, age 43 or 44, of Richmond, Va. He was charged with air piracy.

United officials said the hijacker allowed the 60 passengers and three stewardesses to deplane when the airliner landed in Atlanta, leaving him on board with the captain, first officer and flight engineer.

"Other United people managed to get the hijacker's attention. While he was occupied, the cabin crew managed to get around him. They used the rear cabin stairs to deplane," said John Philp, the airline's regional public relations manager.

James O'Keeffe, assistant special agent in charge of the Atlanta FBI office, and another FBI agent then boarded the plane and arrested the man without incident.

O'Keeffe said the hijacker kept one hand in an airline flight bag and threatened to blow the plane up if he was not flown to Cuba. The agent said he found no explosives and no weapon when he arrested Covey.

The plane was United flight 344, which originated in Los Angeles and made stops in Birmingham, Ala., Charlotte, N.C., and Raleigh, N.C., enroute to Newark, N.J.

The last attempted hijacking of a domestic flight took place last Jan. 13 when a passenger attempted to divert an Eastern Airlines flight to San Juan, P.R.

Final okay to Viet aid and evacuation plan Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Authority for the use of U.S. military men in South Vietnam to aid in the evacuation of Americans and some Vietnamese, and funds for humanitarian aid are expected to win final congressional approval Tuesday.

The bill would prohibit President Ford from using any more troops than are necessary, or any longer than they are needed, to evacuate Americans and their dependents. It also would grant $327 million in humanitarian aid.

The Senate approved the bill

Friday 46 to 17 after it was worked out by House-Senate conferees. It was approved over objections that Americans are not being pulled out of Saigon fast enough to prevent the use of force.

"The longer they are there the greater the danger that a large U.S. force will have to go in for an extended time to bring them out," said Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said the bill gives Ford "flexibility where in the most dire circumstances he may give some payments to get people out or military assistance."

In response to questions, he said that could even include payment of bribes, although he said he doubts bribes will be necessary.

Humphrey also said he believes the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have signalled that they want to set up a provisional government in Saigon and are willing to let Americans and some Vietnamese leave the country peacefully.

U.S. officials say a cease-fire in Vietnam and the start of negotiations for a political settlement could come early next week.

Their assessment came as South Vietnamese President Tran Van Huong offered to resign in favor of a government acceptable to North Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen refused to comment on a report that South Vietnam was trying to send a cabinet officer to Hanoi on a U.S. Air Force plane to negotiates a settlement.

Nessen told newsmen it was "a subject too delicate and sensitive to discuss here."

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger denied a report by Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Mich., that a "tacit understanding" had been reached with North Vietnam to permit evacuation of all nonessential Americans by Monday.

Broomfield later said he was relying on newspaper reports he had thought were based on a briefing from State Department aides.

Decision left up to Tran Van Huong

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese National Assembly decided after 10 hours of debate today that President Tran Van Huong will have to decide for himself whether to resign to allow formation of a government acceptable to the Communist side for peace negotiations.

A compromise resolution was passed after negotiations over Huong's proposal to either appoint neutralist Gen. Duong Van "Big" Minh to the presidency or for the assembly to give him full powers to appoint a "government of negotiation."

Avoiding a decision, the assembly approved a two-point resolution that gave full support to the president's peace efforts and at the same time said he could "if necessary, choose a man to replace him" in achieving peace.

As the assembly debated, the military command reported shelling attacks south and west of the capital but no major fighting.

The Viet Cong delegation at its weekly news conference refused to say whether they would enter into peace talks with Minh, but the retired general is believed to be acceptable to them.

Sources close to Minh said if he became president he would call for an immediate cease-fire and appoint a "cabinet of reconciliation."

In Washington, U.S. officials said a cease-fire in Vietnam and the start of peace negotiations could come early next week. It was learned that Huong's offer to quit was worked out by Saigon leaders and U.S. Ambassador Graham Martin.

Huong, 71, succeeded to the presidency last Monday when Nguyen Van Thieu resigned in an effort to clear the way for peace talks with the Communists, whose forces have overrun three-fourths of South Vietnam and are in position to take Saigon.

But the Viet Cong rejected Huong as a puppet of Thieu and demanded a complete change of government.

A news blackout from Cambodia continued on the last day of a three-day celebration of the capture of Phnom Penh by the Communist-led Khmer Rouge.

South Vietnam's battlefields remained quiet today. The Saigon command reported shelling at Tay Ninh and Trang Bang northwest of the capital and at an air field in the Mekong Delta to the south. It reported no casualties.

The command also reported three ground engagements south of Saigon and listed 68 North Vietnamese and four government troops killed.

It is generally conceded that North Vietnamese troops massed around the capital could capture Saigon any time. But the Communists have held back, offering hope that a negotiated settlement was possible if a suitable South Vietnamese government takes over.

"We don't have much time," said Senator Le Chau Loc, a Roman Catholic.

Woman-led gang robs Mexican bank, killing 11

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A dozen leftist guerrillas led by a "dark and pretty" woman machine-gunned at least 11 persons to death in a bank holdup that got them $12,000, police and witnesses said.

Eight policemen were shot to death Friday during a wild chase by 36 police cars and two helicopters across the city. Two suspects were captured, one of them wounded.

Police said the others killed included two passersby and a bank teller. Two others were wounded.

Police Chief Daniel Gutierrez Santos told reporters the two captured suspects were members of the Red Brigade of the 23rd of September Communist League, a guerrilla band advocating violent revolution.

The young bandits — eight men and four women — attacked the Banco de Comercio branch shortly after it opened for business.

Witnesses said some of the robbers fired machine guns and pistols as they ran inside, while others remained outside firing at police cars.

"They came in with guns blazing all over the place," said the deputy bank manager, Maria de Los Angeles Perez. "There were about 50 gunshots. I threw myself to the floor and everyone else did the same thing. I was really scared and thought I was going to get shot. There was a lot of blood around. I saw the body of a policeman on the ground shot in the head. It was all very fast. It must have happened in less than five minutes."

The bandits demanded money from a teller and then shot him in the stomach, fatally wounding him.

"A woman appeared to be the chief," said Rodolfo Martinez, another bank officer. "She was dark and pretty with a very strong voice." Other witnesses said she was the one who emptied the cash drawers.

Outside the bank a witness said some of the bandits "stuck their guns in the windows of a patrol car and fired a lot of shots at the policemen inside."

A private guard in a grocery store across the street ran out when he heard the shooting. "One guy came up behind him and put a pistol to the back of the guard's neck and shot him twice," the store manager said.

Another burst of fire killed an architect getting into his car.

The police account said the bandits used three getaway cars including a commandeered taxi, and blazed away with their machine guns, hitting policemen and pedestrians.

One policeman was killed and another wounded five miles from the bank. The machine gun fire hit a helicopter but it landed safely.

Portugal's moderate left is landslide vote winner

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Portugal's moderate left won the first elections since last April's revolution with a landslide victory today over the Communist party.

Led by the Socialists, the three moderate parties won 70 per cent of the votes cast on Friday for members of a constitutional assembly.

The Communist front, a dominant force in the nation since the military overthrew the old rightist regime, was a poor third with about 13 per cent of the vote.

With tallies from 80 per cent of the precincts, the Socialists, the Centrist Popular Democrats and the Center Social Democrats had 125 assembly seats to the Communist front's 23.

Reports from 3,378 of the 4,027 precincts showed the Socialist party had 1,802,588 (38.06 per cent) and 73 assembly seats, the Popular Democrats had 1,208,363 votes (25.51 per cent) and 45 assembly seats, the Communist party had 628,863 votes (13.28 per cent) and 21 seats, and the Center Democrats had 345,452 (7.29 per cent) and 7 seats.

The Popular Democratic Front, a Communist party satellite, had 198,774 (4.2 per cent) and 2 of the assembly's 247 seats.

The blank or spoiled ballots totalled 333,002 or 7.03 per cent.

The seven other parties had less than 5 per cent of the vote.

Communist party leader Alvaro Cunhal, minister without portfolio in the provisional government, told a radio interviewer his party had not done as well as expected in northern Portugal.

Semi-trailer trucks collide

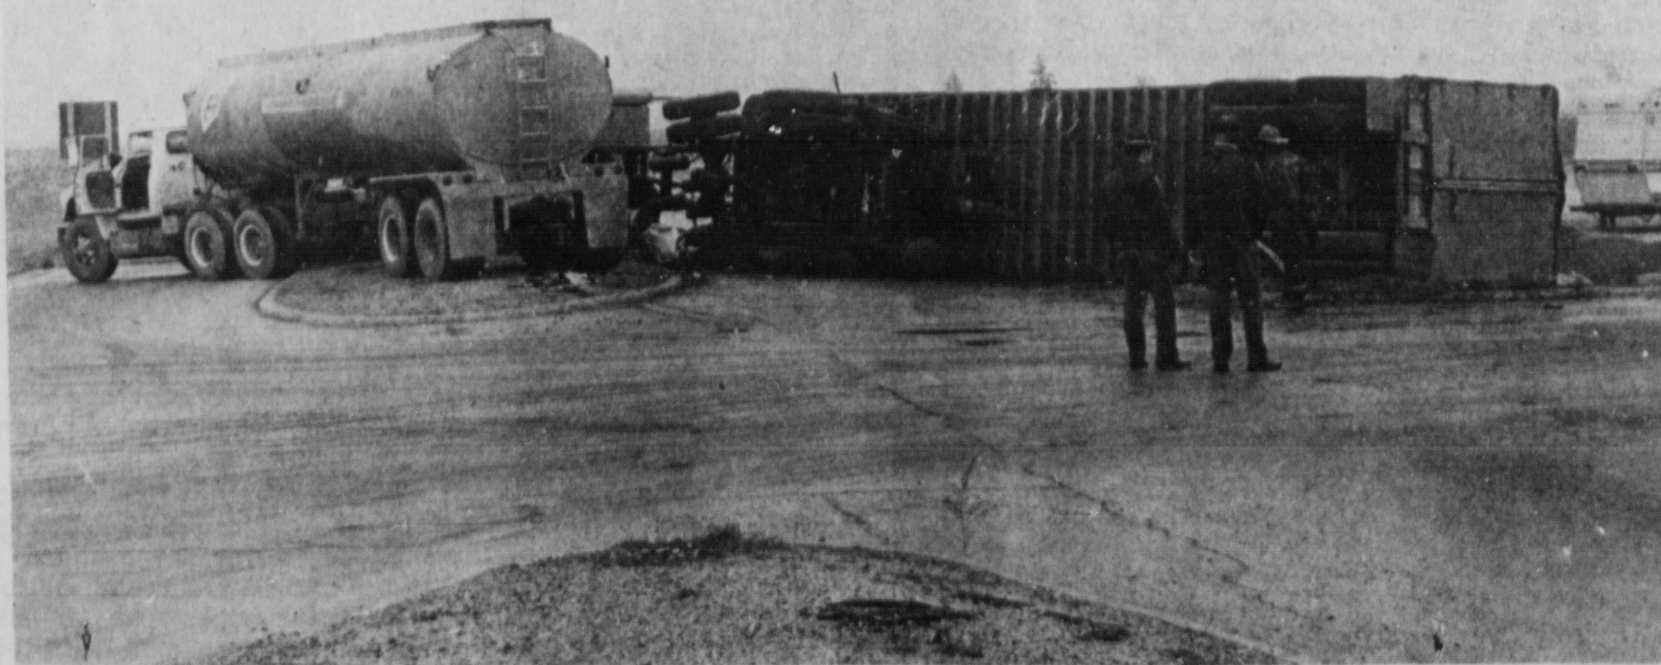

The driver of a loaded gasoline tanker escaped serious injury Friday when another semi-trailer truck rammed his truck broadside, overturning the tanker onto U.S. 30. Milton F. Hoskins, 60, Milan, was listed in good condition today at KSB Hospital.

Driver of the other truck, Robert J. Gill, 25, Fallon, Nev., was released from the hospital following treatment.

State police, investigating the accident, said Gill was southbound on U.S. 52, approaching the stop intersection, when he failed to stop and struck the tanker broadside. Impact pushed Hoskins' tractor and trailer onto its side.

Although no fire ignited from the upset gasoline tanker, the Amboy Fire Department was called to stand by. Gill's trailer was loaded with powdered milk whey and avocados.

Troopers cited Gill for disobeying a stop sign. Damage to the trucks was estimated at $35,000.

Why GOPs fear conservatives

Members of the Republican establishment are worried about their high paying jobs. You certainly can't blame them for wanting to keep a position where you can increase your own benefits every now and then. Just vote yourself another pay raise or fool the taxpayer by increasing your expense account.

"Yes sir, we can't permit these radical patriots to start a conservative party which might take away a few votes from we, loyal Republican congressmen," so says your Sen. Charles Percy and Rep. John B. Anderson, who have circulated a Republican statement pledging loyalty to GOP and its principles.

They were in such a hurry they forgot to state what the principles are, or don't they dare, for it would show up their socialist voting records.

The few real GOP members in Congress refused to sign this phony document.

If you want to know why they are afraid of another party, subscribe to: The American Voice, P.O. Box 1098, Pigeon Forge, Tenn. 37863 ($5 per year).

Israel: a new peace plan?

JERUSALEM (LENS)— Come back, Henry. That sums up what Yitzhak Rabin and Israel's cabinet are hoping for now: a demonstration both that Middle East peacekeeping is back on the road and that Washington and Jerusalem are friends again. Israel's leaders want this whether or not the Geneva conference is reconvened.

They would not care to plunge into the fray at Geneva at odds with their only ally and without some tangible previous evidence that progress toward a settlement is still possible.

Everybody in Israel is worried about the cold shoulder presented by the American government since Kissinger's effort to mediate between Egypt and Israel broke down last month and the Administration announced a "re-examination" of its Middle East policies.

This week Yigal Allon, the Israeli foreign minister, beat a path to the United States, making a three-day speaking tour the occasion for an interview with Kissinger this week. This trip has aroused considerable criticism in Israel, on the ground that it may simply invite more American pressure.

Many of Allon's cabinet colleagues objected to it; the Likud opposition called the Knesset into a mid-recess debate about it; and a group of young women demonstrated at the airport with placards accusing Allon of "going to Canossa." His statement that he was not carrying new proposals for a partial settlement with Egypt was not believed, and no doubt did nothing to appease Kissinger.

These difficulties with America should not be inflated beyond their true scale. The existing American aid commitments to Israel are being implemented; the informal alliance has not been repudiated, and nobody is suggesting it should be; if there is another war the United States is said to be preparing to airlift military supplies to Israel even if its planes cannot stop in Europe on the way over.

All the same, the American government has announced that talks about new military supplies will have to wait. Unconfirmed reports say that approval of the delivery of Lance ground-to-ground missiles to Israel is being delayed, and that negotiations on the delivery of other weapons—including anti-missile equipment—have been halted indefinitely.

Israel's request for a total of $2.5 billion of all kinds of aid for the American budget year starting in July has been left hanging in the air.

This sort of American foot-dragging has often happened before, and Israel is used to it. But Kissinger is plainly angry about the failure of his mission. He has been complaining that Israel's negotiating team—Rabin, Allon and the defense minister Shimon Peres—was weak and short-sighted.

Israel has been bringing counter-pressure to bear by activating the Jewish lobby and other friends of Israel in America. A stream of Americans landing in Israel, including Senators Javits and McGovern, have passed Israelis heading for the United States to drum up support there: among them, Moshe Dayan, Abba Eban and Menahem Begin.

A lot of Israelis are asking why matters were allowed to reach this pass, even though many of the same people applaud Rabin for standing up to American pressure. The details of Israel's proposals in the failed negotiations with Egypt have now emerged in bits and pieces.

It seems that Israel offered to pull back fairly deep into Sinai north of the Mitla and Giddi passes (leaving a small enclave in which there would be an Israeli early-warning electronic system, while Egypt would maintain a similar system behind Israeli lines). Farther south, it said it would go back as far as the middle of the Giddi and Mitla passes themselves, and evacuate the Abu Rudeis oilfields.

It was willing to renounce the principle of demilitarization of the evacuated area in favor of a reduced Egyptian military presence. Both countries would reduce their armies, Egypt by cutting its down from 650,000-700,000 men to 400,000 and Israel by shortening its compulsory military service from three to 2½ years.

Before the negotiations ground to a halt, Israel gave up its demand for an Egyptian declaration of non-belligerence, but asked for an agreement valid for four years in which Egypt would undertake not to join in a war started by a Syrian attack and would reduce its part in the Arab economic war against Israel.

Israel's leaders have indicated that these proposals still stand. They will pull their troops back even farther if Egypt consents to waive the use of force for a period of years and the agreement contains some political commitments by Egypt that point towards peace.

This may be what Allon will tell Kissinger, who says he would be willing to reopen his mission if both sides asked him back. What he appears to want from Israel is not more territorial concessions but that Israel should make no demands of Egypt, and should in particular forget about an agreement with those "political" elements in it. Egyptian President Anwar Sadat utterly opposes these, however much territory in Sinai is offered in return. But Israelis are not convinced that Sadat's intentions are peaceful.

They note his message to Lebanon this week, urging the embattled Christian phalangists and Palestinians to stop fighting with each other and save their blood for the war against Israel. They also note the humiliating process to which Israel was subjected to retrieve the bodies of 39 of its men who fell in the 1973 war; at different stages of the business Israel had to release 112 men convicted of terrorism, spying and other security offenses. And Egypt is still withholding 18 bodies.

On Monday Israel unveiled its first homemade fighter-bomber—the Kefir, "Lion Cub," a combination of a body copying the French Mirage and the engine of the American Phantom. The possibility of another war this summer is by no means ruled out in Israel.

Iron horse falls on bad times

The hard times that have lately befallen the iron horse, while bad news for the railroad industry, present the nation with a unique opportunity, says a presidential factfinding body.

There are about 200,000 miles of abandoned railroad lines in the United States, many of them passing through scenic and picturesque landscapes. According to the Citizens Advisory Committee on Environmental Quality, these unused roadbeds could be inexpensively converted into a vast network of backpacking, bicycling, jogging, horseback riding and cross-country skiing trails.

Once a right-of-way is acquired—and they're available at bargain prices—the actual construction of a trail would be a relatively simple matter, the committee says in a recently published booklet, "From Rails to Trails."

All that is needed is the removal of ties and tracks and the laying of a suitable surface. Abandoned station houses could be utilized as hotels or trail headquarters.

Another baby boom coming?

By DON OAKLEY

Projections about where America are headed, in terms of numbers, are being revised in the light of recent government statistics.

From January through August of last year, the birth rate continued the steady decline that began about 1970. Then in September, even as the economy began its nosedive, the birth rate suddenly began rising and continued to rise in October, November and December.

The result, according to the National Center for Health Statistics, was that for the year as a whole, the birth rate was up 1 per cent over 1973.

The actual increase was small, however—25,000 more babies born in 1974 than in 1973—and population watchers point out that the rise was due to an increase in the number of women of childbearing age rather than to an increase in the average number of children per family.

A more complete picture of U.S. population trends is expected when the National Commission for the Observance of World Population Year, established by executive order on Jan. 17, 1974, makes its report to the President next June.

At present, the picture is a cloudy one. Last year, despite the fourth-quarter upsurge in births, the U.S. population of some 213 million grew at a rate of only seven-tenths of 1 per cent. But low as that rate is, if continued it would mean a doubling of our numbers in about 90 years.

Even so, it remains a dramatic reversal of the Post-World War II trend. In 1956, the peak year of the "baby boom," the U.S. growth rate hit 3.1 per cent, which meant a doubling time of only 22 years.

On the other hand, because the number of women of childbearing age is expected to increase by 12 per cent between now and 1980, some experts fear a mini-baby boom as the babies of the 1950s enter their prime childbearing years.

All projections aside, our presently slowed growth has already provided a number of benefits to the health and welfare of all Americans, say the advocates of zero population growth.

Because of the decline in the secondary school population, school boards are able to divert millions from classroom brick and mortar into better education in the form of lower teacher-pupil ratios and help for youngsters who need special attention.

Many hospitals have been able to reduce their obstetric units and give more health care to people of all ages. Demographers and economists alike foresee such happy eventualities as reduced air and water pollution, less pressure on our already strained resources, fewer people in poverty, fewer children but more wanted children.

By 1980, says Harvard professor James Q. Wilson, we can look for "a general and persistent reduction" in crime because the crime-prone, youthful component of our population will be proportionately smaller.

Toning down record pirates

Recording artists and companies are losing as much as $200 million annually in sales and royalties, according to industry estimates, because of record "pirates" who bootleg duplicates to a thriving black market.

Until now, the original producers have found it difficult to prove that a stolen recording is not actually a "sound alike" version. Typically, the pirate will disguise his recording by superimposing material, such as an occasional guitar chord, so that if he is challenged—which seldom happens—he can claim that the entire recording was made by different performers.

The days of the record pirates may be literally numbered, however, thanks to a tone-coding system developed by a small New York firm, reports Electronics magazine.

Originally developed by the late Murray G. Crosby, the inventor of FM multiplex stereo, for keeping track of radio and television commercials as they are broadcast, the tones could serve as an invisible tag telling where a recording came from.

The system places a subaudible identifying code on the original master recording, which can be detected and decoded by a receiver-monitor. The code, which can be applied to any recording medium, may be inserted several times in each disc or tape. The same signal will be reproduced on any recording made by a pirate, thereby identifying the material as that of the original producer.

The tone code may be useful in another respect, even with legitimate recordings. A proposed general revision of the copyright laws now before Congress includes an amendment that would require broadcasters to pay a royalty fee for every play of every record.

Audicom Corp. plans eventually to place monitoring stations in the top 200 broadcasting markets in the country. Decoded signals would be recorded daily and polled by telephone at the end of each broadcast day.

The data would be fed into a central processing unit for generation of proof of performance as well as for billing and collection reports, station logs, competitive media reports, music publisher royalty reports and advertiser audits.

Miss Ail weds Owen Gascoigne

AMBOY — Miss Cynthia Jo Ail, daughter of Mrs. Doris Ail, Amboy, and Owen Sheldon Gascoigne, son of Mrs. Sheldon Gascoigne, Rt. 1, and the late Mr. Gascoigne, exchanged marriage vows at 2 p.m. March 29 in the First Congregational Church.

The double-ring wedding was performed by the Rev. Henry Holverson, pastor of the church, and Mrs. Donald Wyzgowski, organist, accompanied the soloist, Gene Selover.

Decorations

Lighted tapers in seven-branched candelabra flanked altar arrangements of pink roses and white carnations, and white satin bows were attached to the sanctuary pews.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Gail Glenn, the bride was attired in a gown of white satin trimmed with lace. The gown's floor-length skirt ended in a chapel train, and was topped by an empire bodice featuring a high neckline and long sleeves with lace cuffs. Scalloped lace bordered her cathedral-length mantilla of illusion, and white satin ribbons fell from her nosegay of pink and white roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Richard Becker, Morrison, who was her sister's matron of honor, wore a full-length gown of a pink fabric imprinted with white rosebuds, and her headdress was a white picture hat trimmed with pink ribbons. Her nosegay combined miniature pink roses, carnations and baby's breath tied with pink satin ribbon.

Identically-styled gowns were worn with white picture hats by the bridal attendants, Miss Bonnie McGuire, Mrs. Jeffrey Hubbell, Miss Sue Farringer and the bride's sister, Miss Bonnie Ail, all of Amboy, and Miss Laura Leffelman, Sublette. They carried single long-stemmed red roses with attached white ribbon streamers.

Victorian sleeves trimmed with blue lace and satin ribbon accented the white velvet frocks made by Mrs. Larry Bonnell for the ceremonial flower girls, Miss Julie Grim and Miss Missy Ail. Pink-tipped white carnations and white rose petals filled the baskets they carried.

Norman Leffelman, Lostant, was the bridegroom's best man, and serving as groomsmen were John Cover, Dixon; Kenneth Kenney, Sheridan; Larry Bonnell, LaMoille; Philip Callison and David Leffelman, Amboy. Ushers for the ceremony were Jeff Hubbell and James Hubbell, Amboy, and participating as ring-bearer and trainbearer were John Ail and Kevin Ail.

Reception

The tables arranged for a reception in the Green River Saddle Club following the service, were trimmed with streamers and wedding bells, and reception assistants included Mrs. James Hubbell, Miss Brenda Ail, Miss Gail Schible, Mrs. Gene Grim, Mrs. Norman Leffelman, Mrs. Kenneth Kenney, Mrs. Larry Bonnell, Mrs. John Cover, Miss Laurie Ail, Miss Rose Farringer, Miss Teresa Moyer and Miss Joan Moyer.

The bride attends Amboy High School, and her husband, a graduate of the school, attended an electrical school while serving in the Navy. He has also served two years in the active reserves.

The newlyweds have been residing in rural Amboy since their return from a Wisconsin wedding trip.

Polly's Pointers

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I purchased a leather handbag and then discovered one rainy day that it had a large water spot on it. What can I do?—SHARON.

DEAR SHARON—I presume you mean a real leather handbag. A professional leather cleaner told me that when such a spot is not too old it often can be eliminated by going over the entire bag with a damp cloth to blend it out dampening the spot a bit more than the rest of the bag. Success is determined by whether or not the spot has penetrated through to the skin. All such leather is treated. After a bag is clean it has to be resurfaced and sometimes re-coloring is needed to hide spots.—POLLY.

DEAR POLLY—A Pet Peeve of mine concerns the elastic in the side panels of bras. It turns dark and is dirty looking after just a few washings. This looks so bad and it seems they could come up with something that would look fresh and white after those first few washings.—BERTHA.

DEAR BERTHA—I have only noticed this the past year or so and find it most annoying. It makes a freshly laundered bra look quite soiled.—POLLY.

DEAR POLLY—I have found an easy way to put hems in skirts or dresses. I slip the article over the ironing board, measure the length I want plus the hem and mark both places at one time. Move the garment over four inches and repeat until you go all the way around. Measure from the bottom of the belt on a skirt or the waistline of a dress. The marks may be connected or you can cut across from one to the other. Fold on the top mark for the hem and press. For flare dresses without a waistline I put the underarm seams together and fold the dress in fourths and trim from the side seam.—PEGGY.

Plans were also discussed for the sorority's annual sale of Petunia Festival buttons in June, and Mrs. Schuler reported on a recent meeting for the sorority city council. A dinner-party for past and present council members is scheduled for May 19 at Parkway Village, and Mrs. Schuler and members of the social committee are planning a combined birthday and end-of-the-year party to be held at 7 p.m. June 4 at Happy Joe's, Sterling.

Concert Sunday at Sauk Valley

Ten fanfares by 10 of America's leading composers will be performed at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in Sauk Valley College's East Mall. The brief pieces will be performed by the brass and percussion instruments of the Illowa Chamber Orchestra.

Performers include French hornists, Alice Geisz, La Moille; Deborah Furniss, Lanark; Amy Wiebers and Lynn Jones, Lanark.

Trumpets will be played by Gary Boyd, Oregon; John Flohr, Walnut, and Shiela Condiff, Rock Falls.

Trombonists will be Ronald Augspurger, Milledgeville; Al-an Hoffman and Brian Erickson of Sterling. Dean Leff of Morrison will play the tuba.

Percussionists are Tom Rogiewicz, Prophetstown; Gordon Warren, Rock Falls, and Kris Murray, Jeff Block and John Gasso, all of Sterling.

Over half of the players are the local band teachers in their communities, along with other college music graduates and a few college and high school students.

The 10 fanfares will be performed as an anthology of works by famous American composers, and will be conducted by Robert Clifton Whipple, with narration by David O. Bittner, band teacher at Morrison High School.

The fanfares will follow the performance of a violin concerto by Augustana College violinist Charles Abplanalp and the orchestra, and will precede the performance of Gian Carlo Menotti's dramatic cantata "The Death of the Bishop of Brindisi" to be performed by the Sauk Valley College Community Choral, the Sterling-Rock Falls YMCA Boys Choir and the orchestra. Robert Ludden and Norma Hazen Hoffman are vocal soloists for the Menotti work.

Tickets for the performance will be available at the door at 3 p.m. Sunday.

A UMW Unit meeting was announced for May 1 in the church when Dr. Robert W. Schumm, pastor of the church, will be the speaker, and the 1975 observance of May Fellowship Day was announced for May 2 in the First United Methodist Church. The theme adopted for the observance is "Open to Live Fully," and reservations for the luncheon may be made with Mrs. Charles F. Johnston or Mrs. Fetterolf.

It was announced that Mrs. George Holland would serve as chairman for the annual UMW bazaar, and Mrs. Delos Simmons will be co-chairman. A bazaar booth to be prepared by members of Susanna Circle will contain "fancy work."

Dear Ann

by Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a girl, 16 years old, who is 5'3". Two years ago I went on a crash diet and lost 35 pounds. My lowest weight was 74 pounds. I was told I looked like I was going to drop dead any minute, so I started to eat again. I gained 25 pounds and people said I looked 100 per cent better, but I felt fat.

Last summer I went to a sleep-away camp for eight weeks. During the first month, I lost ten pounds and was very happy about it. Then I began to eat like a pig. I've put on 40 pounds and my mouth is still going.

I went to a hypnotist and he couldn't help me. I joined two clubs for overweight people but couldn't stick with their programs. I tried a psychologist and he said nobody could do it but me. And I CAN'T. Please give me some advice. I hate myself. — Motor Mouth

Dear Mouth: The clue appears in the last three words of your letter. Go to another therapist and find out why you hate yourself and get to work on THAT.

A teenager who has experienced such wild weight fluctuations must have severe emotional problems. Until you get them resolved you'll continue to alternate between very fat and very thin — and neither is healthy.

Dear Ann Landers: I have never seen this problem discussed in your column although I've been a steady reader for many years. I don't want to believe you've never before received a letter of this nature. It would make me feel even more uncomfortable.

I'm in love with my brother, and he is in love with me. X is in his early 30s and I am in my middle 20s. We've felt this way about each other for years but it's become more difficult lately because of our bad marriages.

It seems like no one understands X but me, and vice versa. This has drawn us closer together. But the physical desire for one another makes us feel weird and unnatural.

We've never discussed this with anyone but each other. Writing to you is the first attempt to remedy the problem. We both want our marriages to work. Do we need counseling or should we follow our hearts? So far we have managed to keep our hands off each other. Will this love mixed with desire pass as we get older? Do we need counseling? If so, how does one explain something like this to a spouse?

There isn't another soul in this world I can turn to. Please help. — Blood Is Thicker Dear Thicker: Incestuous relationships ARE weird and unnatural. You DO need counseling and I hope you both get it immediately.

I can see no reason to tell your respective spouses why you are seeking help. It would serve no useful purpose and it may well destroy for all time any chance to improve your marriages. Good luck and get going.

Dear Ann Landers: I work in an office building. It is one of the newest and most beautiful in the city. I'm sure it cost at least $10,000,000.

I get sick when I see women employees wipe lipstick on the walls and put their dirty shoes on the beautifully upholstered couches.

Should I say something and make enemies or keep my mouth shut and boil inside? — Need Advice

Dear Ad: Speak up. Someone should let those sows know that their tacky behavior is not going unnoticed.

Woosung Woman's Club meeting

The Woosung Woman's Club will meet at 10 a.m. Wednesday with Mrs. Alvin Winkey. Sewing for club projects will precede a luncheon to be served by the hostesses, and a business meeting is planned for the afternoon.

'Exchange night' is held for OES Chapters

An "exchange night" with Primrose OES Chapter, Morrison, was held recently in the Masonic Temple by Dorothy Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Members of both chapters were welcomed by Mrs. Tracey Stinson, worthy matron of Dorothy Chapter, and serving as guest worthy matron and worthy patron were Mrs. Carole Patten and Frank Patten, Morrison.

Other officers of Primrose Chapter serving for the evening were Mrs. Mary Jo Gooley, associate matron; Kenneth Gooley, associate patron; Mrs. Lillian McCullough, secretary; Eugene Wiersma, treasurer; Mrs. Kathy Kirkland, conductress; Mrs. Gladys Nelson, associate conductress; Mrs. Betty Regur, chaplain; Mrs. Gladys Garwick, Marshal; Mrs. Ardetta Knox, organist; Mrs. Louise Anderson, Adah; Mrs. Irene Pratt, Ruth; Mrs. Dorothy Brandt, Esther; Mrs. Alice Wiersma, Martha; Mrs. Dorothy Stralow, Electa; Mrs. Susan Racek, warder; Alfred Nelson, sentinel, and Kenneth Anderson, color bearer.

Mrs. Lois Krug, grand lecturer of Dorothy Chapter was escorted to the East as guest of honor, and George Hill, past patron of Dorothy Chapter, was also seated in the East. Mrs. Beulah Tennant, grand lecturer emerita, and 27 members of grand chapter, committees were introduced.

The program planned for the ceremony included vocal selections by Jean Stinson, and a corsage from Dorothy Chapter was presented to Mrs. Patten.

An initiation ceremony for Dorothy Chapter was announced for next Friday night, and resolutions for the late Mrs. Patsy Blum, Mrs. Lavinia Benodt and Mrs. Mary McGraham, were read by Mrs. Krug, Mrs. Tennant and Mrs. Bernice Lephien.

Mrs. Patten concluded the ceremony by reading a poem, "It's a Wonderful World," and refreshments were served in the temple dining hall by members of Corinthian Shrine with Mrs. Eleanor Smith as chairman.

Table decorations were figures of Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy, and toys were favors for the guests.

The Doctor Says:

Today in History

By The Associated Press
Today is Saturday, April 26, the 116th day of 1975. There are 249 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
In 1607, Capt. John Smith landed at Cape Henry, Va., with the first group of colonists who would establish a permanent English settlement in America.

On this date —
In 1783, 7,000 Tories sailed from New York for Nova Scotia.

In 1785, the American naturalist and artist, John James Audubon, was born in Haiti.

In 1865, Abraham Lincoln's assassin, John Wilkes Booth, was captured on a farm near Port Royal, Va.

In 1925, Paul von Hindenburg was elected President of Germany.

In 1954, it was announced that 900,000 American children would receive injections in a nationwide test of Salk antipolio vaccine.

In 1964, the African nations of Tanganyika and Zanzibar merged, forming Tanzania.

Ten years ago: American and South Vietnamese spokesmen confirmed for the first time that a regular unit of the North Vietnamese army was operating in South Vietnam.

Five years ago: Haiti, which had been cut off from the world during an unsuccessful Coast Guard revolt, reopened the airport at Port-au-Prince.

One year ago: A group of army officers in Portugal seized control of the government and said Premier Antonio de Spínola had resigned.

Today's birthday: Entertainer Carol Burnett is 41. Writer Bruce Jay Friedman is 45.

Thought for today: Many toil hard to earn a loaf when a slice is sufficient — a Dutch proverb.

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — I read your article in the newspaper about bulk. The last statement, "Bulk in the solid foods you eat, not water, is essential to normal bowel function," and most others, is absolutely wrong. You want to move bulk with water. How can a so-called learned medical doctor recommend such a thing?
I'm now 81. When I was younger, I was troubled with constipation. I began drinking eight glasses of water a day and have had no trouble since. For 45 years I have been drinking eight glasses of water a day and my daily elimination is as regular as the sun, moon and stars.

Are you a quack out after the money it brings in or just a common sophisticated ignoramus?
DEAR READER — No matter how abusive you are, the facts won't change. I hold no quarrel with drinking adequate amounts of water. In fact I recommend taking fluid with the breakfast meal as part of bowel training.
The point you are missing is that water will not stay in the bowel unless there is a reasonable amount of roughage.

The whole wheat cereals contain bran. Bran naturally absorbs water and in this way prevents hard, dried constipated stools. There are a lot of sophisticated ignoramuses in the medical profession who know this. It was pinpointed recently by a brilliant British surgeon after several years of study, and the general concept has been proved and published by many other fine scientists in our leading medical journals.
I'm glad you are having no problems on your regime, but that doesn't alter the fact that excess water is eliminated by the kidney and food residue by the bowel. Nor does it minimize the importance of bulk in the diet. You can drink water till the cows come home, and if there is no natural roughage in the bowel it is not going to help to moisten the food residue, but it will surely flush out the kidneys.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My report from the doctor said I had a possible functional heart murmur grade one. What does this mean, and is it serious?

Can anything be done to overcome it?
DEAR READER — The best thing to do is forget about it. Functional is a term used by doctors to mean there is no disease or abnormality related to a finding. Physiological would be a better term.
A murmur means a sound that occurs from the flow of blood through the heart, analogous to the term murmuring brook. If it occurs during the heart's contraction (systole) it is called a systolic murmur.

Pitchford was brought to the Law Enforcement Center and released on bond. A court appearance was scheduled for May 15.

Weekend session for state legislature

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The House meets today for the first weekend floor action of the spring session as it attempts to clear a mounting backlog of bills.

Both houses of the General Assembly met Friday, winding up a hectic week of lawmaking which ended with allegations that the frantic process was denying citizens their rights.

In order for committees to finish their work by the May 2 deadline, meetings have been held from early morning until late at night, and rules requiring advance notice of bills to be heard have been suspended.

The American Civil Liberties Union, in letters to the leaders of the House and Senate, noted these conditions and said bills are being distributed to members moments before committee hearings and some bills are not available to citizens who might wish to testify.

"We believe that the constitutional right of citizens to petition their government is undeniably eroded under those circumstances," said the letter, signed by Yoshimi Golden, ACLU legislative director, and representatives of two other citizens groups.

Mrs. Golden conceded that the problem is one the legislature usually faces shortly before adjournment in June. This year, however, both houses are operating under joint rules which call for a series of deadlines for processing legislation.

Mrs. Golden told reporters that a meeting with House Speaker William A. Redmond, D-Bensenville, was scheduled and that one with Senate President Cecil A. Partee, D-Chicago, would be sought.

"The ACLU has to deal with the effects of bad law on the constitutional level," she said.

In Chicago, Gov. Daniel Walker announced legislation he is proposing to tighten up control of the individual information that can be made available for credit and other purposes.

Among other things, the proposed legislation would regulate the preparation and dissemination of credit information. It would permit the consumer to see his file and to challenge the report's accuracy.

The bills are the result of work by the Governor's Commission on Individual Liberty and Personal Privacy, established by executive order.

Schuneman says programs for elderly misunderstood

SPRINGFIELD—State Representative Calvin W. Schuneman (R., Prophetstown) said today he was afraid state programs for senior citizens were not providing the assistance and relief intended because they are misunderstood or not communicated to the public.

"A new program of tax relief for senior citizens and the disabled, which the General Assembly provided in legislation recently," Schuneman said, "will do no good unless the senior citizens know it's available and understand the procedures."

Schuneman provided the following most frequently asked questions regarding the new senior citizens legislation and their answers:

Q—What are the new benefits?
A—The act provides between $50 and $100 additional relief for senior citizens who file for property tax relief under the existing law, commonly known as the Circuit Breaker Law. It also provides higher benefits for renters under that act.

Q—Who is eligible?
A—A person must meet four basic requirements to qualify for property tax relief: (1) be 65 or older—or be permanently disabled; (2) have an annual household income of $10,000 or less; (3) be a resident of Illinois at the time the claim is filed; and (4) owe property taxes or have paid privilege tax on a mobile home or rent on a residence subject to property tax.

Q—What if a person doesn't qualify under the property tax relief measure?
A—Then he or she can apply under the sales tax relief measure. The first three of the four property tax relief qualifications are all that are needed to apply for the sales tax relief program. This then includes people who live in public housing or not-for-profit housing that is exempt from the property tax.

Q—What is the charge for renters?
A—Those elderly or disabled persons who were allowed to count 25 per cent of their rent as property tax for purposes of claiming grants under the Circuit Breaker Law now can claim 30 per cent.

Q—What is the change for renters?
A—Those elderly or disabled persons who were allowed to count 25 per cent of their rent as property tax for purposes of claiming grants under the Circuit Breaker Law now can claim 30 per cent.

Q—What is defined as Household Income?
A—Total annual income of the applicant and spouse is household income, as long as the two live in the same location.

Q—Does everyone have to apply for new benefits?
A—No. The Department of Revenue plans to use one form for both the Circuit Breaker grants and the new sales tax relief. Those who already have filed for property tax relief will have both payments based on the one form filed, those who have filed in the past will be sent application forms—to their last mailing address. People who have not applied previously can write the Illinois Department of Revenue, Box 3124, Springfield, Illinois 62708, or call toll-free at 800-252-8972; or contact Representative Schuneman's office at Prophetstown (537-2330).

Q—Is help available in filling out the forms?

A—Yes. Use the same toll-free number between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. daily. The department will compute the grants based on information on the forms, and send along a copy of how the computation was calculated.

Q—How much money will a person get under the sales tax relief program?

A—Grants are figured by multiplying an applicant's income by a percentage established by the law for that level of income. People who have less than $1,250 income will get $50.

Persons with incomes of $10,000 or more are not eligible.

Rochelle Council briefed on railroad overpass

ROCHELLE—During an informal meeting Friday afternoon for the Rochelle City Council, Mayor Bill Cipolla briefed two new council members on the status of the ICC regarding an overpass in Rochelle.

A hearing Monday will consist of testimony by the Chicago Northwestern and the Burlington Northern Railroads.

Cipolla further stated that the most logical place for an overpass is on U.S. 51 (Seventh Street), and that a two-lane overpass is feasible and would alleviate the traffic situation. He also said he felt that both railroads favor a two-lane overpass rather than a four-lane as previously proposed by the state of Illinois. The two-lane, Cipolla said, would not necessitate an additional feeder street, and would be the least costly to the city.

With the proposed construction of Corridor B east of Rochelle, in the near future, a two-lane overpass would handle local traffic. The ICC can order the state of Illinois to build the two-lane overpass, however, the state could take court action and reverse the decision. The project must go before the people in the form of a referendum because tax money would be used by the city for its share of the cost. The railroads' share of the expense would be a total of 10 per cent.

Newly elected Commissioner L. R. Dickinson questioned the feasibility of an underpass at either 11th or 12th Streets, and Cipolla told him that while it could be done, it was expensive. The railroads would do the work, but would bill the city for the entire amount.

Also mentioned was the proposed opening of a grade crossing over the Northwestern line at Caron Road to be started within the year. This, too, would bring some relief to the Rochelle traffic problem.

Members of the council will leave Rochelle at 10 a.m. Monday to attend a 1 p.m. hearing in Chicago.

The VFW Auxiliary will furnish refreshments in the canteen at the bloodmobile and will welcome all who are willing to give a pint of blood for someone who needs a little extra to live.

Brinkmeier safety bill introduced

Rep. R. E. ("Bob") Brinkmeier (D-Freeport) has introduced a bill into the Illinois House which would provide greater safety to children riding in school buses.

Brinkmeier's bill would require school buses purchased new after Dec. 31, 1975 to have the gas tank and filler opening located on the driver's side away from exit doors. Most school buses presently used have gas tanks and filler caps located on the right side near the front exit.

In explaining his bill, Brinkmeier recounted an incident that occurred in Stephenson County in which a school bus was struck and immediately burst into flames. No children were on the bus, but the driver stated that all the children would not have been able to escape if the bus had been full.

"At little, if any, additional cost we can assure greater protection of our school children," according to Brinkmeier. "I do not believe it is wise to allow this potential danger to continue to confront our children."

Brinkmeier's bill is endorsed by the School Problems Commission, and he said he expects passage to come quickly in the House.

Duke milers win in Sterling

By MIKE CUNIFF
Telegraph Sports Editor

STERLING—The trio of Tom Nevius, Ed Love and Duane Cowley combined their talents to cop the championship of the mile team race to highlight a seventh-place finish in the 25th annual Sterling Relays, here, Friday night.

Nevius finished third, Love fifth and Cowley seventh in a 30-runner field for a total of 15 points based on a cross-country scoring system. Sterling's Pat Fortney overtook Blake Hepner in the final 80 yards to take individual honors in 4:24.7, the fourth fastest outdoor mile in the state so far this spring.

Hepner led the entire race until the slender Sterling senior sprinted past in the final turn. Fortney's clocking narrowly missed the relays record of 4:22.7 set by Moline's Jack LeMaster in 1974.

Love was third after both of the opening two laps, before dropping to fourth with a 440 to go. Nevius, who finished in 4:28, was fourth at the halfway point and then switched places with Love with one lap remaining. Nevius stayed in the top eight throughout the race.

Moline took the team championship with 88 points, with East Moline second with 76. Moline re-entered the field this year after a seven-year absence. Sterling, last year's champion, was third (49), followed by Freeport (39), Joliet Central (35), Rock Falls, Dixon, Morton, Ottawa and Newman.

The Dixon 320-yard high hurdle shuttle relay squad of Ned Vail, Dave Thompson, Steve Thomas and Randy Wakeley finished in a tie for second with East Moline with a time of :42.5. Moline took first in :43.4.

Other Duke point getters were the two-mile relay squad of Love, Eric Lohse, Doug Stouffer and Louie Apple; the 480-yard shuttle relay of Vail, Thompson, Thomas and Wakeley and the mile relay team composed of freshman Brian Cox, Mark Appleman, Lohse and Greg Weigle with a fourth-place finish each.

The two-mile foursome covered the distance in 8:22.4, with Love starting with a 2:04.9, Lohse a 2:06.6, Stouffer a 2:06.7 and Apple anchoring with a 2:03.2. The shuttle squad was timed in :56.5, while the mile relay team was clocked in 3:36.1.

Sterling's frosh-soph squad of Mike Ramirez, Walt Divers, Monte Eldert and Rod Anderson set a record in the 440-yard relay with a clocking of :44.6, to better the previous mark of :45.3 set by Sterling in 1960. Dixon took fourth with Chris Mullery, Gary Magnafici, Pete Poulos and Randy Hazelwood involved.

In non-scoring events, Dixon had a second and third in the junior high school girls 440-yard relay, third in the high school girls 440 relay, fourth in the girls 880-yard medley, third and fourth in junior high boys 880-yard medley relay.

The Dukes did not place in the shot put with 131'3" as Bob Pinegar tossed the shot 44'10 1/4", Roger Kelly 43'4 1/2" and Mike Swegle 43' 1/4". Dixon got a total of 16'8" in the high jump as Kevin Abbott cleared 5'8" while Wakeley and Mike LeBlanc had 5'6" each.

In the long jump, Gordie Wooten went 18'7 1/2", Gary Magnafici 18'9 3/4" and Jeff Webb 19'6" for a sum of 56'11 1/4". Pinegar hurled the platter 133'10", Ed Jones 125'7" and dean Harding 111'10" in the discus.

Dan Garman of Rock Falls enabled the Rockets to slip by Dixon, for sixth place with 34 points, with a 14'0" success in the pole vault. Moline's Jay Ogden also cleared 14'0". Garman missed three chances at 14'3" while Ogden futiley tried 14'6" a trio of times.

Murphy sets pole vault mark for Franklin Center

FRANKLIN GROVE — Scott Murphy set a school record while Scott Delhotal was a double winner as the Franklin Center Eagles triumphed in a triangular meet, here, Thursday. Murphy went 11' in the pole vault to better the 10'6" standard set by John Kirchhofer in 1974.

The Eagles rolled up 102 points to easily dispose of Orangeville (59) and Leaf River (11). Delhotal won both hurdles events while Franklin Center also copped the three relay races. Randy Risdon won the 880, Jeff Jahn the 220, Ed Roller the 440, Jim Roop the long jump, Doug Hillison the high jump and Tim Englebrecht the triple jump for the Eagles.

In frosh-soph action, Leaf River won the mile relay to tie Franklin Center 80-80. Orangeville ended with 12. In an oversight, no Franklin Center team entered the mile relay (the final event) with Leaf River's first place showing worth the necessary five points to deadlock the meet.

The Eagles next meet is at Ashton on Tuesday.

Knowles' pitching and attitude giving Cubs a winning look

CHICAGO (AP) — Darold Knowles is being given a lot of credit for bringing the winning attitude from the Oakland A's to the Chicago Cubs. He's also helped that attitude along with some brilliant relief pitching.

The 33-year-old left-hander who came to the Cubs along with Manny Trillo and Bob Locker in the Billy Williams trade, hurled three hitless innings Friday to gain his first pitching triumph for the Cubs in a 4-3 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals.

And he saved the best for last. After the Cubs had given him a 4-3 lead in the eighth inning on catcher Steve Swisher's run-scoring single, Knowles got into a jam.

Luis Melendez drew a walk to open the ninth and the Cubs put Knowles into a tighter spot when they failed to get a force out at second on Lou Brock's infield grounder. Ted Sizemore sacrificed to put the tying and leading runs into scoring position.

Knowles then went to work and struck out both Bake McBride and Reggie Smith to end the game.

Knowles has now worked 8 2-3 innings in five relief appearances without giving up a run and allowing only three hits.

"If they say I've brought the winning attitude to this club, then that's beautiful," said

Lady Luck abandons Royals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — If luck was the reason the Kansas City Royals won nine out of 10 games in a recent streak, then they've since misplaced their rabbit's foot.

The Royals dropped their fourth straight game Friday, bowing to the Chicago White Sox 5-2 in Royals Stadium.

"We got off to a good start and now we're not hitting, and the guys are trying too hard," said Royals Manager Jack McKeon. "We're not hitting in the clutch. We're hitting in tough luck."

Carlos May slammed two singles and a double and drove in two runs to insure a victory for Chicago. May's single following a triple by Ken Henderson gave the White Sox a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning. Jorge Orta's RBI bouncer in the fifth made it 2-0.

The Royals tied the score 2-2 in their half of the fifth on designated-hitter Harmon Killebrew's two-run single. The 38-year-old Killebrew joined the Royals after receiving an unconditional release from Minnesota, where he wound up his 14th Twins season.

May snapped the tie in the sixth with a double after Ken Henderson had walked. Deron Johnson's pop-fly single later in the inning scored an insurance run off Kansas City starter Al Fitzmorris, who was 3-0 going into the game.

The Royals' only other threat came in the seventh when Amos Otis singled and John Mayberry walked with one out.

Double take

Indiana Pacers Roger Brown (1) prepares to shoot while he is guarded by Denver Nuggets Bobby Jones (24) and Mike Green during ABA playoff game in Denver, but it appears that another ball is going to the hoop. The key asset is speed

By JIM FOX
Telegraph Sports Writer

"Power is important. Clutch pitching is required. A strong defense and an aggressive offense will win plenty of tight games. But the key asset a team must have if they are to go anywhere is speed."

No, these words were not spoken by Lou Brock or Ron Santo, but by a young baseball star who made his name with the Huntington Vikings, an Indiana college baseball team. The speedster is better known as Neil Baker, an outstanding athlete this reporter interviewed in eastern United States travels during the past winter.

"In the two seasons I was with the Vikings it could be said that over one-half of our wins were attributed to speed on the base paths. Our coach super-emphasized base stealing, mainly because it is so much easier to drive a man in when he has stolen second or third base and is in scoring position," Baker commented.

Baker, who has since hung up his spikes for a government position, played on the Huntington team during the 1972-73 seasons, and stole over 50 bases.

"Our record was actually only a little above average, because we couldn't combine all factors that make a dominant team. We were guaranteed runs with our prowess on the bases, but we did leave a lot of men stranded and our pitching was weak in more games than one."

Baker, the Vikings' lead-off man, compiled a .315 batting average and led the team with on-base average with the amount of walks and hit-by-pitched balls that he accumulated in his two seasons. With these factors leaning in his direction, the swift centerfielder reached first safely in most of his plate appearances.

"It is so important for the lead-off batter to get on base—no matter what way," continued Baker. "He can then drive for second base, thus enabling the two, three, and four batters—who are supposed to drive runs in—to knock him home without having to forfeit an out with a sacrifice or worrying about a double-play possibility."

"Speed is also very important on defense," stated the speedster, "especially in the outfield. A fielder has to take charge of his area, and the centerfielder patrols the whole outfield. You have to get a jump on the ball and be able to move quickly in any direction."

According to Baker, any athlete can develop speed or increase his present speed with proper conditioning and diligent work in countless drills, including sprints and running the bases at practices. "It takes patience and desire, but the outcome is very productive for the team," Baker summarized.

limelight you occupy when around others.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A business matter with family overtones that has been difficult to resolve will be concluded in a surprising, profitable manner.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A situation is going to arise where you'll profit from your position as a mediator.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
The next few days larger profits than usual can be made through your business dealings. You must be sharp and attentive to gain the advantage.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec.
21) Don't turn down any invitations at this time. You're likely to make some very important social contacts in places you'd least expect to.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan.
19) There is some action taking place that involves you, though you're not aware of it. When results are known, they'll prove quite beneficial.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
You're in your element if participating in some form of group activity. A good day to champion worthwhile causes.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
The next few days substantial, profitable progress can be made in your work or career.
Make this your No. 1 priority.

IF YOU HAVE BEEN THINKING ABOUT BUYING A HOME... WE HAVE A SUGGESTION! DON'T PUT IT OFF!

The factors that determine housing costs, land, labor, building materials have been rising for the last 30 years. Mortgage money is available and interest is deductible from federal income taxes. With the present inflation rates you can pay off your mortgage with "cheap" dollars. The mortgage market fluctuates some, but rates aren't likely to fall drastically. Any decrease realized by waiting would be offset by the increase in the other factors.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE D-642: Myra P., aged 29, is now a psychiatric patient. "Myra was married to a nice fellow about five years ago," her doctor informed me. "But they never had any children. "So Myra developed a mania to get pregnant. "It became such an obsession with her, that she flaunted her marriage vows and began to cohabit with men of various races. "Last month she bore her third baby, all by different fathers. "And none of the babies came from her legal mate! "Myra's desire for a baby was not due primarily to an unselfish maternal yearning for a baby of her own. "No; she was so afflicted with a sexual inferiority complex, due to her years of worry about being sterile, that she craved pregnancy merely as a sop to her feminine vanity. "And now she is in a mental institution because of her terror about her next birthday. "For she thinks the age of 30 will mean she is 'on the shelf.' "29 Panic

This dread of their 30th birthday is widespread, both among married women as well as single girls. They are often as frightened about reaching 30, as many men are of becoming impotent at middle age. For when women are under the age of 30, they often look upon their 29th year as the "Swan song" of their feminine charm. The numbers 30 and 40 are thus the dreaded birthdays for millions of women. So they often panic at viewing No. 30 and later become nagging, tearful wives at 40, dreading that they will soon enter the menopause and lose all physical appeal to their husbands. Although women are notorious for wishing to be unique and unusual in having a frock or hat that no other woman is wearing, when it comes to sexuality, they generally want to be just like other human females! That's why they often go berserk if they are married but unable to get pregnant. Their mania for a baby is more likely to be a selfish desire to prove they are sexually normal, than to mother an infant. Biblical Rachel thus nagged Jacob because she was childless, but after adopting a child, she conceived and then revealed womankind's age-old fear of being sexually inferior, when she said (Genesis 30:23): "... God hath taken away my reproach."

When single girls thus arrive at their 29th birthday and begin to panic, they are unusually susceptible to sexual affairs. Even childless wives may then become openly flirtatious and more easily seduced by outside Don Juans. Yet there is little justification for such dread of No. 30 and No. 40. This "Worry Clinic" column has dispelled the terror of the menopause in hundreds of American cities, coast to coast. For I have shown women the medical fact that the womb (uterus) is no more vital to their sexual enjoyment, than is their vermiform appendix to their delight in dining room viands. Both the womb and the appendix are thus excess baggage! After an appendectomy, you women know you still are just as able to enjoy good food.

People in the news

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jordan's King Hussein will confer with President Ford here April 29, a White House spokesman says. Ron Nessen, Ford's press secretary, said Thursday the two leaders will discuss matters of common interest. The king will be on a private visit to the United States.

WASHINGTON (AP) — It will be late summer before Vice President and Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller move into their official residence in northwest Washington, a Senate committee has been told. Renovation of the Victorian mansion, long used by chiefs of naval operations, began last year.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The bank robbery trial of Susan Saxe, once on the FBI's "10 Most Wanted" list, will begin June 9, a federal judge says. U.S. District Court Judge Alfred Luongo had set May 12 as the trial date, but announced Thursday it would be delayed to allow for handling of pretrial matters.

The defendant, once an honors student at Brandeis University, was arrested last month after nearly four years on the fugitive list. She was wanted in connection with the robbery of a suburban Philadelphia bank. She also faces charges in Boston in a second bank robbery in which a guard was shot to death.

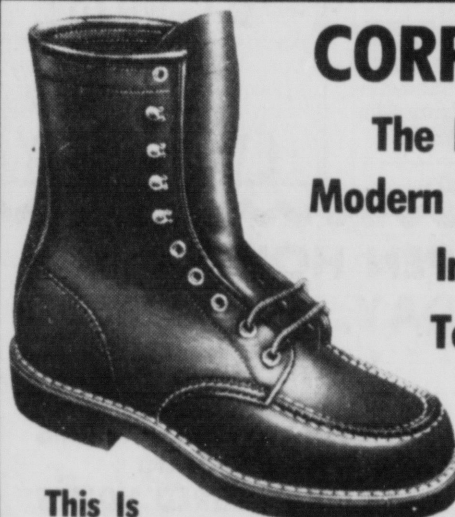

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — C. Arnholt Smith, the 76-year-old financier, has been fined $10,000 for promoting illegal campaign contributions to a candidate for the U.S. Senate in 1970. U.S. District Court Judge Robert Schnacke ordered the maximum possible fine Thursday. Smith was convicted March 20 on two misdemeanor counts of causing the gifts to the re-election campaign of Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., to be made through a corporation. An attorney for Smith said the conviction would be appealed. Smith faces trial on 25 felony counts charging misapplication of $27.5 million in funds of the United States National Bank, which was declared insolvent in 1973.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford apparently has approved an unofficial portrait of himself. Ford, accompanied by his wife, Betty, inspected the portrait Thursday. The informal presidential portrait was given to the Capitol Hill Club by the artist, Donald E. Johnson of Philadelphia.

"As a fiscal conservative, I always enjoy seeing a politician with his hand in his own pocket," Ford said of the portrait, in which he has his left hand in a trouser pocket.
